SETTING THE SCENE

DURING our history we have worked directly with two Grand Designs feature homes, showcasing both our LMTB and BMTB product range in innovative scenarios.

After the second installation, one of our distribution partners explained that they were working on an interesting project local to them that saw the owner replacing out of date solar thermal panels with our LMTB4.

The homeowner was very conscious of using renewable technology around the house and this ideology saw the home feature in the Grand Designs Magazine. Our distribution partner oversaw the removal of the older technology and the installation of our Solar Assisted Heat Pump which has now been providing the family with their hot water demands for over a year.
